

RUBRIC: Drawing with Four Kinds of Lines

A/B

Process journal contains three pages of vignette drawings of simple objects.

Student composes at least one still life with three or more objects.

The proportions of the different parts of each object are drawn correctly.

The objects are accurately placed within the composition.

The value shapes are accurate and show skill in rendering.

There is marked improvement in the final drawings compared to the first ones.

Drawings are annotated using unit vocabulary words.

The drawings are developed and show the use of contour and surface lines (and evidence of structural lines).

Deadlines met

C/F

Measurements are inaccurate. And/or there are not enough examples.

Proportions of the objects appear distorted.

The objects within the composition are not accurately placed.

Value shapes are not accurate.

The quality within the student's work does not improve between the first drawings and the final ones.

There is little or no annotation (or) the annotation does not correctly use the vocabulary words.

The student does not use different line types correctly
Deadlines are not met.